I am claiming copyrights as I am the SOLE OWNER, as you MUST have permission in reproducing any published material. Per DMCA. It is not "fair use", as you cannot use anyones material without their expressed permission, especially when you combine it with false statements, and slanderous material.

I will forward this violation to my attorney, and GOOGLE legal.

Subject: Re: DMCA VIOLATION Copyright

Additionally, and to further validate the DMCA Copyright Infringement Complaint, my published word, drawings, and utterances were taken completely out of context (hence, copyright distortions), as the material on this site and the drawing was for sole for " violence containment", per hospital standards. ALL of this was carefully explained in the other book sections--sections the author of this site failed to spell out clearly.

This is not " fair usage", and violates the DMCA Section on ""Misrepresentations of published works"

You cannot list out " fragments" without the entire content or it is " misleading representations to the public", as was done on this site. Not to mention the slanderous and defaming characterizations made, which are legal issues handled separately.
